Q: How to test a request with IIS? My web service is in an ASP.NET app, hosted in IIS 7.5. I have created a test app to call the web service. I have a.asmx file for the web service, and a.asmx.vb file for the client. In the test app, I can successfully call the service by using:

Dim Req As HttpWebRequest Req = WebRequest.Create("") Req.Method = "POST" Dim postData() As Byte postData = Encoding.UTF8.GetBytes("username=t

estuser&password=testpass&value=1")
Req.ContentLength = postData.Length
Req.ContentType = "application/x-www-form-urlencoded" Req.GetRequestStream()
Req.Write(postData) Req.GetRequestStream() Req.GetResponse() So far so good. Now I'm trying to see how this works in IIS, so I've set up the web site to be accessible at: From IIS, I can successfully browse to this page. I see the page, and a couple of parameters are populated in the URL (testuser, testpass, value=1

What's New In DTYFilesLocker?

DTYFilesLocker gives you the security you need every time you are using your computer. Your files will be fully protected from local and Internet access. DTYFilesLocker locks your files to prevent others from accessing it while you are browsing on the Internet. We recommend that you keep DTYFilesLocker on at all times. This is best in case you are unsure about who or what your local or Internet access is. We also have a password protected version of the tool you can use if you want to have full control over who has access to your files. DTYFilesLocker is a very versatile file locking tool. You can lock files based on the type of content they contain (pictures, movies, music, etc.) or you can also protect files based on the folder they are located in (ie. My Pictures folder). You can also set a password to protect your files. What can you do with DTYFilesLocker? Take pictures with your mobile phone and lock them so that they cannot be viewed from other computers. Browse your files without worries. Protect your sensitive information with a password. Protect your files in case of network failure. Hide your files from casual computer users. Set maximum file size for people downloading files. Reasons to choose DTYFilesLocker. DTYFilesLocker has a free edition. It is the tool you should use when you are browsing the Internet for a short period of time. It will lock all your files so that they cannot be viewed from other computers on the network, but they can still be viewed from your computer. When you download something on the Internet, it is not locked and can be viewed from all computers on the network. We recommend that you use the paid version of the software. It is a one time fee and the size of your files will not be affected. We also have a option to have files locked every time you are using your computer so they will never be opened again. Our FileLocker is also available for the Microsoft Windows operating system. FileLocker Client for Microsoft Windows When it comes to Microsoft Windows, you can use FileLocker Client, a free downloadable software. This is what most people use when they have to lock files. The file locking software comes with a number of options for you to use. You can limit the file size, set the maximum number of concurrent users, allow or disallow remote connections, and set a password to protect the files. Using FileLocker Client You can simply use FileLocker Client without having to download anything. To use it, just download the software and run it. From the main screen, you can set the maximum number of concurrent users, a password, or use other security settings. Once you are done, you can then click on the "add" button and start using the
