One-click to reset password to the publisher. Reminder of the last-updated settings for accessing e-mails and appointments via the authorisation tag. Signs of the authorisation tag status in the e-mails and calendar reminders. For downloading the program please follow the link below. A: Have a look at the latest version of Outlook (2019) How to set up your auth tag? In Outlook open the Preferences tab In the Reading and Faxes category select to have a notification for new emails, appointments, and calendar changes

(for me there was the following setting which checks for EACH calendar change - including moved calendar items) In the Options category select Notify me when a new attachment arrives from authorizers You must have a calendar category, so add a calendar category (by clicking on the plus icon and then selecting "Calendar Category" from the menu that opens) Select the authorizer or authorizers that you want to automatically invoke to provide authorizations from If you want to attach a file go to the tab "Security" and click on the checkbox "Attach a file to a message sent from this authorizer" If the authorizer has a.msg file for the authentication tag go to the "Security" tab and check the "Attach authorizer file" check box No manual data entry is needed. Authorization send on e-mail is done through the "Authorizer button"

---

---

---

Authorization send on calendar event is done through "Notebook event" Authorization send on appointment is done through "Appointment tab" Authorization send on call is done through the "Dial-in options" tab Why Let us assume you have a company with several departments. The CEO has a departmental user for the organization. Dept A has 4 users, and each of them has an email address. In other words: Dept A = { userA@domainA, userA@domainB, userA@domainC, userA@domainD } If you want to control all emails from this department then this is a good way:

---

---

Authorization deptA =
"deptA@domainA",
"deptA@domainB",
"deptA@domainC",
"deptA@domainD" But there is a problem:
